

Residential Schools

The Aboriginal Healing Foundation

For more than 160 years and seven generations, First Nations, Inuit and Métis children in Canada were removed from their families and sent to Residential Schools. The government-funded, church-run institutions were located across Canada and established to eliminate parental involvement in the spiritual, cultural and intellectual development of Indigenous children. The last Residential School closed in 1996.

For more than 160 years and seven generations, First Nations, Inuit and Métis children in Canada were removed from their families and sent to Residential Schools. The government-funded, church-run institutions were located across Canada and established to eliminate parental involvement in the spiritual, cultural and intellectual development of Indigenous children. The last Residential School closed in 1996.

TRUTH & RECONCILIATION
COMMISSION OF CANADA

